

Ellen Van Eetvelde is a consultant colorectal surgeon at the university hospital UZ Brussel (Brussels, Belgium) and a clinical lecturer at the Vrije Universiteit Brussel. She is the chair of the colorectal tumor board at UZ Brussel. Her main interests are minimal invasive surgery, colorectal cancer and robotic colorectal surgery and she has performed more than 650 colorectal robotic procedures. She has trained more than 50 national and international colorectal surgeons in robotics. She is the chair and founding member of the RBSS Robotic Surgery Working Group which has set up a national robotic training program for general surgery trainees in Belgium. She is an active member of the Colorobotica group from the European Society of Coloproctology which provides a pan-European robotic training program for colorectal surgeons. Currently she is the European Society of Coloproctology's Belgian national representative.